Something about support and updates.

Our normal studio rate is £50 per hour - charged by the minute. So, for example, if you sent us a page of text in an email to replace the text on a page on your site, it would take about 5 minutes to update. (You do have the option for as many updates as you want in excess of your plan - chargeable).

The catch?

Full terms and conditions are available but the salient points are listed below:

The contract lasts a minimum of two years. If it is settled early the full amount must be paid immediately. After two years you have the option of continuing at the same rate, or upgrading, and your website will continue. You also have the option of simply walking away with nothing further to pay and letting your site lapse. If a payment is missed then the full settlement becomes due.

If none of the above suit then please look on the next page.
